RESOURCES

When parents and teens don't see eye-to-eye, small issues become big problems. Family Resources offers individual and family counseling that provides a clear path to resolution. Family crisis intervention addresses the issues that led to the crisis (including regularly missing school, running away from home, and displaying unmanageable behaviors) and then assesses the likelihood of future problems.

Family Resources offers counseling that is free for families. Please call for an appointment at your closest location to review your individual needs.
